

LATTICE IMPLEMENTS INMATE COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM IN WILCOX COUNTY JAIL

Installation is the Company's First in Georgia Market

PENNSAUKEN, NJ, January 5, 2016 (Marketwired) -- Lattice Incorporated (OTCQB: LTTTC) has installed its Nexus Inmate Communications System at the Wilcox County Jail in Abbeville, GA. This is a significant milestone, as it marks Lattice's first installation in Georgia, an important growth market for the Company.

Wilcox County switched to Lattice's Nexus System based on the Company's reputation for industry-leading service, support, and system reliability. Additionally, the Nexus platform will generate improved efficiencies for the Wilcox facility and significant phone call revenue for Wilcox County and Lattice. The facility can use this revenue to recover costs associated with managing its inmate communications program, such as monitoring inmate phone calls.

"The new installation of our Nexus Inmate Communications System at Wilcox County will deliver greater efficiencies to the facility, reduce the administrative burden on its staff, and drive increased revenue opportunities for Wilcox County and Lattice," noted Paul Burgess, CEO of Lattice. "This is a significant first installation in Georgia, a key state in our overall growth strategy. We look forward to growing our partnership with the Wilcox County facility."
